

Newsletter: November 2007

Congratulations! to Andrew Taylor and Nick Rush who graduated from their Clinical Dental Technician course at Leeds Castle. They are currently taking the Royal College 'top-up' course to register with the GDC in February.

We are beginning work on updating our Prosthetics department this month so we can accommodate a surgery at the laboratory. We will begin by extending the first floor to cover the whole area of the building so I expect a few days of severe disruption. We have organised the building work to take place throughout the night, while this phase is completed.

The new phone system is now installed. To begin with all went well until we asked for a few small changes. I am sorry if we lost your call in the ether during this work. I am pleased to say it appears to be working normally now.

Simon, our orthodontic technician is away for three weeks over the Christmas period. If you have an Orthodontic appliance please contact us first so we can give you a return date.

With Christmas approaching we have enclosed our posting and delivery times for this period. The laboratory will be closed from Monday 24th December until Wednesday 2nd January. It helps us if you can pre-book any large or complex cases so we can ensure they will be finished in time.

Yours faithfully

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "D. Smith". The signature is written in a cursive, slightly slanted style.

David Smith

REGISTERED MEMBER